More Appointments.

The President Fills a Number of Offices.

INTERNAL REVENUE COLLECTORS

Military Cadets at Large Appointed—The President Too Busy to Go to Cape May. An Order From the Treasury Department—Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The president has made the following appointments:

Collector of internal revenue; John J. Hutchman, for the district of Connecticut; Isaac Moffett; First district of New Jersey; Elihu A. White, Fourth district of North Carolina; C. W. Arnold, for the district of Georgia; Marcus Boggs, Eleventh district of Ohio; John O. Crorens, Eighth district of Indiana; Julius C. Starr, Fifth district of Illinois.

Collectors of customs: William J. Morgan, for the district of Buffalo Creek, New York; Enos J. Pennypacker, for the district of Wilmington, N. C.; Philip M. Hildebrand, to be surveyor of customs for the port of Indianapolis, Indiana.

The president also appointed the following cadets at large to the military academy: Hugh D. Wise, son of Gen. John D. Wise; John C. Gilmore, son of Capt John C. Gilmore, Twenty-fourth infantry, as alternate; David S. Stanley, son of Gen. D. S Stanley. The president will have no more appointments to the military academy before June, 1890.

The President Busily Engaged.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The president has found that it will be impossible for him to go to Cape May the end of the week to bring Mrs. Harrison home. He will have to remain at the White House, and she will come on with the children alone. He will probably have also to delay his trip to Deer Park for a few days. It was at first thought that he and Mrs. Harrison, with the children, would start for that port not later than the 1st of July, and that he would go on from there to keep his appointment at Woodstock July 4. It is pretty certain now, that he will be obliged to stay in Washington until he starts for Woodstock, and the Deer Park trip will have to wait upon his appointment.

No Banks in Indian Territory.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The attorney general has rendered an opinion in which he holds that a National bank cannot be established anywhere in the territory of the five civilized nations in the Indian territory. The objections to establishing National banks there, he says, grow out of the treaties now in force between the United States and the five nations. The treaties provide that these nations shall be unrestricted in the right of self-government, and jurisdiction over persons and property in their limits, and the effect of the treaties make it safe to say that the National banking laws are not in operation in this territory.

Complaint Against Marshals.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The commissioner of internal revenue has sent to the attorney general a formal complaint against the United States marshals and commissioners in Alabama. It is alleged that these officers trump up cases against innocent persons to secure fees, and that they have secured transportations for friends from point to point in the state at the expense of the government, on the pretense that they are needed as witnesses.

Orders to Customs Collectors.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The treasury department has issued an order to collectors of customs, forbidding them to issue to parties intending to reimport bags of American manufacture, which have been exported for benefit of drawback under section 3,019, revised statutes so called certificates of exportation, for the purpose of facilitating the free entry of such bags upon their return to the United States.

Life Saving Service Extending.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The life saving service is taking steps for the establishment of two life savings stations on the great lakes, provided for by the last congress. One at Marquette, Mich., on Lake Superior, and the other at Kewaunee, Wis., on Lake Michigan.

The Kearsage at Hayti.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The United States steamship Kearsage arrived at Nicholas Mole, Hayti, yesterday after a stormy voyage from New York. The vessel proceeds at once to Port-au-Prince. All reported well.

Steamer Ordered to Samoa.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The United States steamer Adams, now at Honolulu, has been ordered to Samoa, to take the place of the Alert and Nipsic, now on their way to San Francisco.

MARVELOUS MEMORY

[illegible] grand larceny. William G. Hatley, one of the conspirators in the overloading of cars consigned to Mook & Company, the principals, pleaded guilty to petit larceny and paid $100 fine. W. S. Holcomb, the elevator foreman, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree and was sentenced to a year in the penitentiary.

Never Recovered Consciousness.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 28.—Dr. John J. Brown, member of the legislature from this county, who was found unconscious in his office Tuesday night, died this morning. He never recovered consciousness.

IT WAS A SURPRISE.

Mr. Phelps Had no Idea of Being Appointed Minister to Germany.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Mr. William Phelps' appointment to the German mission was wholly unexpected by him. He had seen allusions to his possible selection in the English and German newspapers, and had heard the matter referred to in a jocular way since he returned. Neither the president nor Mr. Blaine, however, had ever in any manner spoken with him regarding the matter previous to Wednesday. It came about in rather an odd manner.

Mr. Phelps had a call at the executive mansion in company with Secretary Blaine to pay his respects to the president, and to talk with him, if the president so desired, about the recently signed Samoan treaty. There was a pleasant exchange of compliments, when Gen. Harrison, who was sitting at his desk, picked up an official envelope lying there and handed it to Mr. Phelps. The latter, seeing that it was addressed to him, opened it and found that it contained his commission as minister to Germany.

Mr. Phelps was so overcome with surprise that for a moment he could only murmur his thanks, but the president interrupted him with:

"You owe me no thanks. I make this appointment as a reward for the excellent service rendered by you at the recent Berlin conference. You deserve all that you have received."

A VIADUCT FALLS.

Light Men Seriously Injured at South Omaha, Nebraska.

SOUTH OMAHA, Neb., June 28.—Yesterday a switch engine of the Union Stock Yards Company, backed a train of cars under the "Q" street viaduct and knocked the guy ropes out, causing the whole structure to fall. At the time of the accident there were eight men at work on the viaduct, and they were carried to the ground with the falling structure, and sustained serious injuries.

Their names are. James Badford, of Boston, Mass.; deep gash in left leg, wound in groin, and generally bruised; Fred Annacker, of Des Moines, Iowa, left side and leg badly cut and bruised; Frank Witherall, of Janesville, Wis., severe wounds on left leg and arm; Joe Clutter, bruised on the head and body; William Ester, bruised all over body and cut in hands and wrist; Frank Rush, cut in the neck; Isaac Ester, body bruises. The escape of the men from death was miraculous, as the fall was twenty feet, and the landing among iron and stones.

BOTH SIDES OBSTINATE.

The Indiana Operators and Miners Fail to Come to An Agreement.

BRAZIL, Ind., June 28.—The state board of charities, in session with the miners and operators, Wednesday, adjourned at noon, having failed to accomplish anything definite. The operators persist in their inability to pay more than they offer, while the miners as obstinately refuse the rates offered.

Secretary Johnson, of the board of charities, remained, at the request of the miners, to an afternoon meeting of miners. The operators appointed W. H. Zimmerman, Housey Johnson and C. Crawford to meet a like committee of miners at any time, and to act for them in steps necessary to resumption of work. Meanwhile the strike continues. The semi-weekly relief fund Wednesday amounted to $334, which was equally divided among 5,178 dependents. The fund was 100 per cent. less than on Friday last.

Catholic Knights of St. John.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—At Wednesday's session of the Roman Catholic union of the Knight's of St. John, the selection of the place of the next meeting resulted in the choice of Columbus, O. Officers were elected as follows: Superior spiritual director, Bishop Watterson, of Columbus, O.; supreme commander, John Schueler, of Rochester, N. Y.; first vice president, William T. McCapran, of Grand Rapids, second vice president, L. J. Herbert, of Washington; secretary, Timothy J. Nolan, of Cleveland; treasurer, G. J. Mathison, of Parkersburg, W. Va. The union adjourned sine die.

Not Worried About the Proclamation.

NEW ORLEANS, June 28. Governor Nichols' proclamation regarding prize fighting in this state is not causing much anxiety to the sports hereabouts. Bud Renaud, who has charge of the affair, said last night that it was never contemplated to pitch the battle ground within the jurisdiction of Louisiana. He says the proclamation will not interfere with the arrangements "Bill" Harding and Frank Stevenson, of New York, concurred fully in Renaud's opinion and expressed like views.

Died on a Train.

ROADHOUSE, Ill., June 28.—A young woman traveling alone from California toward her home in New Jersey, suddenly died on the passenger train which came up here yesterday. She was a refined, educated young lady, named C. Cologon, and had been teaching school in California. Her remains were taken to Bloomington, where it was expected relatives would meet them.

Probably Eleven Lives Lost.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—The schooner Annie left this port on Feb. 9 on a hunting and fishing trip to the Behring sea. As she has not been heard from since, it is believed here that she went down in one of the heavy gales that swept over this region soon after she left port. The Annie carried a crew of eleven men. Her captain is John Jacobson.

Mentally Wrong.

BURLINGTON, Vt., June 28.—Dr. Eugene Thayer, the well known organist of New York, committed suicide this morning by shooting. His wife says the deceased has been mentally wrong for some time.

Getting at the Facts

The Cronin Grand Jury Hard at Work.

LAST DAYS OF THEIR LABOR.

The Entire Conspiracy Will Soon Be Revealed and a Number of Indictments to Be Added to Those Already Returned. A New Difficulty in the Burke Extradition Case.

CHICAGO, June 28.—On reassembling the Cronin grand jury worked straight through to 7 o'clock last night, when an adjournment was taken without returning any further indictments, but it is believed that a number of true bills will be reported in the near future. It is more than probable that before Saturday next, when the present term of court terminates, every man connected with the conspiracy will be under indictment.

An unknown man brought in by Officer Hiatt was suspected of being the man who drove Dr. Cronin away from his home the night of May 4. Mr. and Mrs. Conklin failed to identify him, however, and he was permitted to go free.

After the examination of a representative of the Postal Telegraph company, a number of Irishmen were called into the witness room. It is understood that the Clan-na-Gael is the object of the inquiry.

About 10:30 o'clock John P. Beggs was removed from the armory to the Central station, where he is now locked up.

The rumor that the suspect Patrick Cooney was seen in the city within a few days is given no credence by the police.

A special from Chillicothe, Mo., says that four detectives arrived there and took different routes into the country, and it was thought Cooney would be captured before many hours.

Chief Hubbard said: "There has been no 'squeals' from any of the suspects, but you can put it down that we are getting at the bottom facts. We are not only working to convict the Camp 20 committee, but a great many others on the outside."

The Irish Element Dissatisfied.

There is a widespread feeling of dissatisfaction among the Irish element in Chicago, touching the method adopted against the Irish nationality by the authorities. The claim is being made that Chief Hubbard, State's Attorney Longenecker, and Capt. Schuettler, in refusing to allow any Irish members of the police force to have anything to do with the case, are offering an uncalled for insult to the whole Irish people, and that their action is productive of a good deal of the apathy exhibited in certain Irish-American circles.

Author of the Anonymous Letter.

State's Attorney Longenecker has received an answer to his advertisement in regard to the anonymous letter received by him giving a hint as to the workings of Camp 20 and the alleged trial of Dr. Cronin. The person answering the advertisement claims to be the author of the anonymous letter, and has made an appointment to meet the state's attorney, but when and where Mr. Longenecker refuses to say.

Is Camp 20 Disbanded?

A rumor has been industriously circulated to the effect that Edward Spillman, the district member of the Clan-na-Gael, and millionaire distiller, of Peoria, has disbanded Camp 20 with a view to obstructing the investigation of its records. Nobody in Chicago seems to have received an official notice of Spillman's action, and Judge Longenecker is inclined to doubt the authenticity of the rumor. The judge said last evening he had every reason to believe that it was not true, but in the absence of facts he was unwilling to cast discredit on it.

Burke a British Subject.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 28.—It is stated here that on what appears to be most reliable authority that Burke is a British subject, and as such entitled to certain rights of citizenship that he would not otherwise be able to claim. One of the advantages he would gain by this would be that under the extradition laws of Manitoba it would be absolutely necessary for the prosecution to prove that he was directly connected with the murder. Making out a prima facie case would not be sufficient to warrant extradition, and it would be necessary to bring into operation here all the machinery of the American law to convict Burke of Cronin's murder.

Mr. Campbell, the prisoners lawyer was interviewed by the United Press correspondent last evening, and asked if this was to be the line of defense. His reply was evasive, and no satisfaction could be gotten out of him.

It is learned upon perfectly reliable authority that when Martin Burke purchased a ticket from Winnipeg to Liverpool here, he deposited $5 in cash, and sent a telegram to some point in Michigan for the balance. The money was telegraphed and Burke promptly got his ticket.

Contradictory Testimony.

CHICAGO, June 28.—The fact has leaked out that Father Dorney's testimony regarding Alexander Sullivan's financial standing at the time of his board of trade transactions was practically impeached by the witness who was called immediately after him. Father Dorney testified that when he was requested to investigate the accounts of Sullivan for the purpose of ascertaining the truth of malfeasance made against him, he discovered that Mr. Sullivan was in a very sound financial condition as the result of his own business and commercial speculation, and added that on being referred by Mr. Sullivan to Frank E. Johnson, John T. Lester & Company's manager, he found from the books that Sullivan had within two years cleared $50,000 on his transactions through that firm. Frank Johnson himself was the next witness called and he denied point blank that Father Dorney had ever called at his firm for the purpose of making any such investigation as that mentioned. He further stated that Father Dorney had never examined the books for any purpose, and in fact he had never seen and did not know Mr. Dorney at all.

THE DEAD REMOVED.

Simon Cameron's Body Taken From Lancaster to Harrisburg.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 28.—The special train bearing the body of Simon Cameron, accompanied by the immediate relatives, left Marietta for Harrisburg at 6 o'clock yesterday evening. No service were held at the old home in Donegal.

Funeral Arrangements Made.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 28.—Gen. Cameron's remains arrived on a special train last night accompanied by Wayne MacVeagh and other relatives of the deceased. They were taken to his old home on Front street. Rev. George F. Chambers will have charge of the funeral services, which will begin at 1 p. m. Saturday. The obsequies will be devoid of all display in accordance with the wishes of the deceased, and no invitations to friends to attend the funeral will be sent out, although all will be welcome.

The pallbearers will be: Insurance Commissioner Forster, Maj. Bent, superintendent of the Pennsylvania Steel Works; ex-State Printer Lane S. Hart, Col. W. W. Jennings, John Weiss, William J. Calder, of this city; Arthur Brock, of Lebanon, and James Young, of Middleton.

Mrs. Hayes' Funeral.

FREMONT, O., June 28.—Arrangements for the funeral of Mrs. Hayes are about completed, and the services will be very brief and simple. Dr. L. D. McCabe, of Delaware university, will have charge of the services, and will be assisted by Dr. Merrick, one of Mrs. Hayes' college professors, and the different ministers of the city.

NEARLY EXHAUSTED.

Lovers of Mackerel Will Probably Want For Their Favorite Fish.

BOSTON, June 28.—Lovers of mackerel will have to pay a high price for that fish next winter. This summer's catch is very meager. A gentleman interested in one of the largest [illegible] in the country said:

"One of our fleets has just returned from the mackerel fields without a barrel. In 1882 and 1883 our catch was between 450,000 and 500,000 barrels. In 1887 it was 77,000; last year it was 47,000. So far this year, and the best season is gone, it is almost nothing. Old fisherman think the fish have crossed the Atlantic and there seems to be some grounds for believing so, as many mackerel are now being caught off the Irish and English coasts.

"Ordinarily a barrel of mackerel weighing 200 pounds sells for from $4 to $5. Just now they are worth $22. The supply is so limited and the season so far advanced that there is but little hope of avoiding a practical non-supply. The large fish, such as cod and halibut, are all right. The supply of these seems to be inexhaustible, but unless the mackerel have only temporarily left the New England coast or they can be induced into Pacific waters, it looks as though the old salt mackerel will soon disappear. An attempt has been made to propagate the spawn in the Pacific, but with what success we can't tell yet."

THE NUMBER INCREASING.

Loss of Life at Latrobe Greater than at First Reported.

LATROBE, Pa., June 28.—The loss of life at the Latrobe freight wreck will be probably larger than was first reported and the death list may reach forty-five. Engine 1,313, which was supposed to be lying at the bottom of the Loyal Hanna river, was found resting on a box car, which was supposed to have contained ten or twelve tramps, and it is probable that a number of bodies will be found when the car is taken out.

It is believed that there are many more bodies covered up in the wreckage, and that the remains of others of the victims have been carried away by the current of water, which is very swift at this place. Several of the dead have not yet been identified. It is expected that the coroner will begin his inquest this afternoon.

INTO AN OPEN SWITCH.

An Engine and Three Cars Thrown Down an Embankment.

DOVER, N. H., June 28.—An express train on the Boston and Maine railroad ran into an open switch while coming into this city last night, and the engine and three cars were thrown down an embankment. The engineer and fireman jumped, and escaped without serious injury. The train was running at a high rate of speed, having been delayed at North Berwick for Crescent division of the Knights of Pythias of Dover to embark.

The passengers were badly shook up, and Oscar F. Kimball, grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, of New Hampshire, William Hilliard and Frederick Weeks, all of Dover, were injured. Kimball and Weeks were hurt in the head and back, and Hilliard internally. William Hoitt, of Malden, had his arm broken.

Notorious Ed. Reed Captured.

FORT SMITH, Ark., June 28.—Government officers succeeded yesterday in capturing Ed. Reed, the notorious son of the famous Belle Starr. Reed came into the city to sell a pack of stolen horses, and was arrested in a stall of a stable, where the officers had him surrounded. He has always boasted that he would never be captured alive.

Victims of the Flood.

Their Graves to Be Strewn With Flowers.

DONE AS A TRIBUTE OF RESPECT

A State Day of Prayer to Be Observed When the State Turns Johnstown Over to Its People—Sick Report—Efforts Being Made to Ascertain the Number of Lives Lost.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 28.—Sheriff McCandless and Col. Hudson called on Gen. Hastings yesterday with a view to having a grand solemn ending of the Johnstown calamity properly celebrated throughout the state. The idea has the approval of all who have taken an interest in the fatality. It is proposed that on the day the state turns Johnstown over to its people that requiem services be held in all parts of the Conemaugh valley where the victims of the disaster are buried.

This to be done as a tribute of respect to this stricken locality, and is to be made a state day of prayer. Many of the unfortunates were buried without any religious service, and are now lying in unknown graves. The date for the observance has not yet been determined, but will be announced in time for proper preparation. The observance proposed will be somewhat after the manner of Decoration Day. At an hour appointed, appropriate services will be held at the various cemeteries in which the remains have been intered. Flowers will be strewn upon the graves, making a fitting ending to the greatest calamity that has ever occurred in this country.

The sick report for the past twenty-four hours shows sixty-seven workmen and nineteen militiamen ailing from gastric troubles. Two were sent home and two to the hospital.

Governor Beaver has telegraphed the finance committee that he would refer the request for home rule to the state commission, which was received with gratification by the people.

There will be but six commissaries in the valley after this week to supply the needy.

The Bedford street hospital has been turned over to the county authorities by the state.

There is some feeling of jealousy toward the Red Cross society by the physicians here on account of the society attending the sick and injured gratis.

Gen. Hastings said he would remain here until the people are satisfied with their houses and the condition of the valley gives entire satisfaction.

There were five bodies found yesterday. John D. Rose, supposed to have been lost from the day express, was identified. His friends arrived last night and claimed the remains.

The finance committee registration for the distribution of the relief fund of $150,000, began yesterday in all the wards and districts of the valley. Ten thousand persons have already registered for relief, and the bureau of inquiry will be open to-morrow, after which time those not registering will be left out of the division.

The bureau of inquiry will begin to-morrow, which will be thorough and permanent. It is for the purpose of ascertaining the number of lives lost and the number of survivors in each family, and the value of all property lost in each family. This is necessary so a just and proper distribution of the relief money can be made.

A YOUNG WOMAN MURDERED.

The Mystery Surrounding the Finding of a Body at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 28.—The body of a young woman of about 30 years of age was found on Union avenue at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Her face was discolored, and severe bruises about the face and neck lead to the belief that she was strangled to death. The name "Anna" was engraved on the handle of an umbrella found by her side. On being taken to the morgue it was found that the unfortunate woman was enciente.

The body was identified by some Jefferson City visitors as that of Anna Weiss, a girl employed as chambermaid in the Madison house at the state capital. She was 24 years of age, a brunette of prepossessing appearance, and was neatly attired. The postmortem examination showed that death was caused by a number of blows on the head which fractured her skull. The detectives found a sister of Miss Weiss, a Mrs. Hollingsworth, living at 210 Clark avenue. She stated that her sister remained with her from Sunday night until Wednesday evening. The police are working on the theory that the young woman met her betrayer by appointment, and that they drove around the greater part of the night. No arrests have been made, but the police feel confident of securing the murderer.

Fire in a Telegraph Building.

MONTREAL, June 28.—Fire was discovered in the Federal Telephone company building on St. Sacramento street early this morning, and for a time threatened to be a large conflagration. The flames spread to the Stock Exchange and other adjoining property. Some narrow escapes are reported. The loss is estimated at $30,000, of which the telephone company's loss is about $21,000, covered by insurance.

HEAVY RAIN STORM.

Serious Washouts Greatly Interfere With Railroad Travel.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June 28.—An unusually severe rain storm prevailed in several parts of Jefferson county and northern New York yesterday and last night. Several points report cloudbursts. Serious washouts occurred two miles west of Chaumont, blocking the road. There have been no trains on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad this morning. Superintendent Jones, of the division, will re-establish passenger traffic by transfers.

Redwood and Sockets Harbor, both in this county, were flooded, but so far no great damage is reported. The midnight freight on the Utica and Black river division of the R. W. O. railway ran into a washout at Ridgewood last night and was wrecked. Passengers are transferred there, going and coming.

The principal trading was confined to St. Paul, Reading, New York and New England, Atchison and Rock Island, sugar trusts [illegible] generally quiet [illegible] and rose 1 per cent. to 115⅛.

In the latter part of the first hour San Francisco preferred, and New York and New England suddenly became prominent and were bid up 1 per cent. and ⅜ respectively. The rest of the generally active list strengthened fractionally in sympathy. In the hour to noon the market was extremely dull and the fluctuations were insignificant. The tendency, however, was toward higher figures. At this writing the market is firm at fractional advances in most cases.

The Encorer.

Of the same ilk is the one who eternally insists that when anything is done that particularly pleases him, the actor shall go over it again, often to the serious interruption of the harmony of the play, and only too evidently to the disgust of the weary actor and to the utter sorrow of the majority of the audience. But the encorer goes along in sublime ignorance of the fact that there is in this world any but himself and claps his hands and stamps his feet and pounds the floor with his umbrella, and if he be in the embryo condition, a sort of a pollywog encorer in the gallery, he indulges in cat calls and shrill whistles. This he calls "enjoying the play," and this is what you escape in church.—Toledo Journal.

THE CURIOSITY SHOP

Coined Money—Its Origin—The Shekel and the Pound.

Coined money is not a very ancient invention. There may have been a period when gold was altogether unknown, and people paid with cows, not with coins. When precious metals—[illegible] began to be used for payment, they were at first simply weighed. Englishmen still speak of a pound instead of a sovereign. The next step was to issue pieces of gold and silver properly weighed, and then to mark the exact weight and value on each piece.

This was done in Assyria and Babylonia, where we find shekels or pounds of gold and silver. The commerce of the eastern nations was carried on for centuries by means of these weights of metal. It was the Greeks, the Greeks of Phocæa in Ionia, who in the Seventh century B. C. first conceived the idea of coining money, that is of stamping on each piece their city arms, the phoca or seal, thus giving the warranty of their state for the right weight and value of those pieces. From Phocæa this art of coining spread rapidly to the other Greek towns of Asia Minor, and was thence transported to Ægina, the Peloponnesus, Athens and the Greek colonies in Africa and in Italy.

The weight of the most ancient gold coin in all these countries was originally the same as that of the ancient Babylonian gold shekel, only stamped with the arms of each country, which thus made itself responsible for its proper weight. And this gold shekel or pound, in spite of historical disturbances, has held its own through centuries. The gold coins of Crœsus, Darius, Philip and Alexander have all about the same weight as the old Babylonian gold shekel, 60 of them going to 1 mina of gold, and, what is stranger still, a sovereign, or pound, or shekel has nearly the same weight (60 of them going to an old Babylonian mina of gold). In ancient times 20 silver drachmas or half shekels went to a gold shekel, just as in England 20 silver shillings are equivalent to a sovereign. The ancient shilling was again subdivided into 60 copper coins, 60 being the favorite Babylonian figure.

Knowing, therefore, the relative monetary value of a gold and silver shekel or half shekel, knowing how many silver shekels the ancient nations had to give for one gold shekel, it was possible by merely weighing the ancient coins to find out whether there was then already any fixed ratio between gold and silver. Thousands of ancient coins have thus been tested, and the result has been to show that the ratio between gold and silver was fixed from the earliest times with the most exact accuracy. That ratio, as Dr. Brugsch has shown, was one to twelve and a half in Egypt; it was, as proved by Dr. Brandis, one to thirteen and one-third in Babylonia and in all countries which adopted the Babylonian standard.

The First Corsets.

As long ago as the days of the Greeks and Romans a slight figure was admired, and stoutness looked upon as a deformity. Martial ridiculed fat women, and Ovid put large waists in the first rank of his remedies against love. Several means were tried then, as now, not only to restrain an expanding figure, but to enhance the beauties of a very slight one. But they were of a different kind from those with which we are familiar. Bandages were worn, with the generic name of fasciæ mamillares. These consisted of the strophium, the cloth worn round the bosom, the tænia, a similar band below, and the zona, or waist belt.

When bandages failed those who valued [illegible] remedy prescribed by Soranus [illegible]. They enveloped their busts with garlands of ivy, which were thrown on the fire as soon as withdrawn, and afterward rubbed all the upper part of their figures either with goose fat mixed with warm water or with the egg of a partridge. Men were as vain as the women, if we are to believe Aristophanes and other writers. The great comic dramatist mocked his contemporary Cinesias for wearing bands of linden wood, and Capitolinus, in his biography of the Emperor Antony, mentions that he also has recourse to them to compress his swelling figure.

Testimony is conflicting, however. Some contend that the ancients wore veritable corsets, arguing that when Homer, describing Juno's toilet when she wished to captivate Jupiter, speaks of the two girdles, he was really describing a Greek corset, and that the cestus of Minerva, which Virgil describes, is to be interpreted in the same manner. But this view is surely mistaken, for no monument, no artist's work, nor any author speaks of the use of stiff whalebone corsets as worn today.

Sketch of "Boz."

It is generally believed that Charles Dickens wove many of the events and experiences of his own life into the story of "David Copperfield." Mr. Dickens was a newspaper reporter, his first engagement being with The True Sun and his next with The Morning Chronicle. His sketches of life and character first appeared in the evening edition of the latter paper. They were subsequently collected under the title of "Sketches by Boz." Next came the "Pickwick Papers." In 1841 he visited America. In 1845 he was appointed principal editor of The Daily News, a paper of Liberal politics. On his retirement from that paper he gave himself up steadily to the work of writing fiction. He conducted Household Words, and subsequently established All the Year Round. In 1867 he visited the United States a second time and gave public readings from his own works to large audiences. He was born at Landport, Portsmouth, England, in 1812, and died June 9, 1870.

A Custom House.

New Orleans boasts the largest custom house in the world. It was begun in 1848 and over thirty years elapsed before it was finished and ready for use. The dome itself is 40 feet square and 61 feet high, estimated total cost of building, $4,200,000.

A Fair Understanding.

A woman in the neighborhood of 45 and weighing about a pound of 180 occupied a seat in the train from Toledo the other day in company with a scared looking young man who probably voted last fall for the first time. As the train neared Detroit and the fact that they were going to stop here, a citizen who had a seat ahead turned around and said he would be glad to give them any information they might possess.

"Look here," said the woman in answer, "I want a fair understanding with you at the outset. Who do you suppose this young man is?"

"Your—your grandson, perhaps?"

"No, sir."

"Your nephew, then?"

"No, sir."

"Your own son?"

"No, sir."

"Perhaps he is an acquaintance?"

"He is my husband, sir—married yesterday—and I don't want any mistakes made. A dozen different people have taken him for my grandson or nephew, and I'm getting tired of it. He's my husband, sir—h-u-s-b-a-n-d—and now go ahead and tell us where we can find a hotel with fairly comforts for about $1 a day."—Detroit Free Press.

A Hard Death to Die.

Yesterday Battlewhack and McLuggs were discussing what they didn't like in literature.

"I like Howells' tragedies," said McLuggs.

"What are you talking about? Howells don't write tragedies," corrected Battlewhack.

"Yes, he does," insisted McLuggs.

"You're way off. He merely gets a couple of people together and then they talk, and talk, and talk. Where's the tragedy in that?"

"Why, they talk the reader to death."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

In which [illegible] grace
Beyond the [illegible]
And very [illegible] and kind
Is this sweet [illegible] to my mind

She takes the fish out in the brook,
And now my heart is also took
By the ranchman's pretty daughter.

She rules the kitchen like a queen,

There's not a cobweb to be seen,
So swift the hands that never falter
Her face clear as a [illegible]
Her lips as sweet as honey, [illegible]
There's [illegible] more things I'd like to tell

And then with [illegible] I'll deck her brow
And worship her as I do now,

A Diamond Expert's Views.

I always smile when I see articles in the papers telling people how they may know a diamond and how to discover an imitation by some handy and simple test. It can't be done. J. M. Loose Red Clover Co., Detroit.—Two years I was afflicted with a very severe attack of Erysipelas. After two physicians had used their treatment for several weeks and I continued growing rapidly worse, being by this time completely blind, and in their diagnosis concluded that there was no earthly help or hope for me. I gave up, having tried all the remedies I knew or heard of. My neighbor, Mr. Miller, came in to see me one day, and said try Loose's Extract Red Clover. As he had known of it working remarkable cures. I told him I had lost hope, that nothing would do me any good in this world. He insisted, and taking his hat went to the drugstore and bought me one bottle and urged me to try it, which I did. Ten days afterwards I sent for two more bottles and it was wonderful how I improved. I continued using it, and I day I am better than I have been in years. No sign of Erysipelas has shown itself and I heartily recommend it to suffering humanity as the greatest and best blood purifier in existence.

LEGISLATIVE SINGLE DISTRICTS.

AMENDMENT NO. 2.

SECTION 1. Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That a proposition shall be submitted to the electors of this state on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1889, to amend sections 1 to 11 inclusive, of Article XI, of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, so they shall read as follows:

ARTICLE XI.

SEC. 1. The apportionment for members of the General Assembly shall be made every ten years, prior to the first election for members of the General Assembly in each decennial period, in the manner herein provided.

SEC. 2. During the month of February prior to the first election for members of the General Assembly in each decennial period, the members of the Senate and House of Representatives representing the two leading political parties respectively, shall meet in separate bodies and each of said bodies shall designate two electors who shall forthwith be appointed by the Governor, and such four electors so designated and appointed shall constitute a commission who shall ascertain and determine the ratio of representation for members of the House of Representatives and senators, the number of representatives to which each county is entitled, and the boundaries of each senatorial district. Should any vacancy occur in such commission the senators of the party making the original designation shall, within ten days thereafter, designate an elector to fill such vacancy, and he shall forthwith be appointed by the Governor.

SEC. 3. The population of the state, as ascertained by the preceding Federal census or in such other manner as the General Assembly shall direct, shall be divided by the number one hundred and ten, and the quotient shall be the ratio of representation in the House of Representatives for the ten years succeeding such apportionment.

SEC. 4. Each county shall be entitled to at least one representative, each county containing such ratio and one half over, shall be entitled to two representatives, each county containing two and one half times such ratio shall be entitled to three representatives, and so on.

SEC. 5. Each county entitled to more than one representative shall be divided by such commission into as many districts as there are representatives apportioned to such county, and one representative shall be chosen from each district.

SEC. 6. Each representative district, in counties entitled to more than one representative, shall be composed of compact territory, bounded by ward or township lines, and as nearly equal in population as practicable, and each of such districts shall be numbered.

SEC. 7. The state shall be divided into not less than thirty-five nor more than forty senatorial districts, as herein provided, and each district shall choose one senator.

SEC. 8. The ratio for a senator shall be ascertained by dividing the population of the state by the number thirty-five.

SEC. 9. Each senatorial district shall be composed of compact territory, as nearly equal in population as practicable, and except as to districts in counties entitled to two or more senators shall be bounded by county lines.

SEC. 10. Each county having a population equal to three-fourths of one senatorial ratio shall constitute a senatorial district. Each county having a population equal to one senatorial ratio, and one-half over, shall be divided into two senatorial districts. Each county having a population equal to two and one-half ratios shall be divided into three senatorial districts, and so on, but no ward or township shall be divided in the formation of a senatorial district.

SEC. 11. The apportionment so made for members of the General Assembly shall be reported to the Governor, by such commission, within three months after their appointment, and the same shall be published in such manner as shall be provided by law.

SECTION 2. At such election those electors desiring to vote for such amendment shall have placed upon their ballots the words "Legislative Single Districts—Yes," and those opposed to such amendment shall have placed upon their ballots the words "Legislative Single Districts—No."

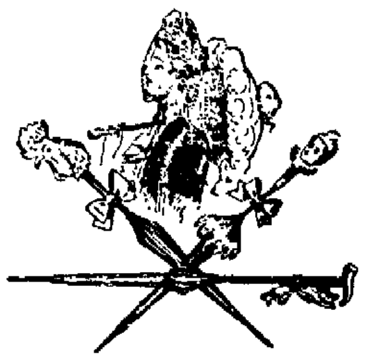
WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

CORRECT STYLES FOR THE SUMMER SEASON DESCRIBED.

New Parasols Provided for the Summer Campaign, Including Coaching, Carriage, Pompadour and Directoire Parasols and the Diminutive Parasolette.

The manufacturers of parasols for the summer of 1889 have produced a wonderful array of these protectors from the sun—an array that covers every possible contingency. There are parasols for the promenade, parasols for a carriage drive, parasols especially designed for coaching parties, and parasols for the races.



NEW STYLES IN PARASOLS.

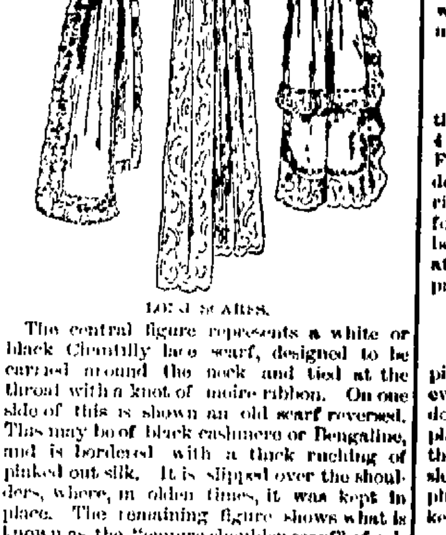
In our illustration are shown four styles. The directoire parasol, with a very long stick, finished off with a silver crutch handle and a bow of striped ribbon; this is par excellence the promenade parasol. The carriage parasol is mounted on a much shorter stick, and, as a rule, is finished with an elaborate and costly handle. The one in the cut is of chased silver, enriched with a Louis XVI head in Dresden china. The third figure in the illustration represents one of the multitude of "many purpose" parasols; the stick is of wood, in rustic pattern, and tipped with a cock's head in enamel and sparkling with rubies and diamonds.

A new comer, which has been christened "Parasolette," and resembles in many respects the old "sun shade," is a diminutive affair, designed especially for carrying on afternoon drives. These parasolettes are out in a bewildering variety of colors, mounted on slender rods of brass, or sticks of wood and ivory, flounced with lace. Those designed for coaching parties have their silk covers mounted on crop handles. New Yorkers have taken very kindly to the elaborate "silver deposit" handles, which in numerous cases extend a foot's length or more up the stick. The color of the cover of a parasol is governed by the color of the costume with which it is to be carried.

For fetes and summer dresses are dainty affairs with rich lace covers. Such a parasol is shown in the central figure in our cut. In this the lace border is arranged in a floral pattern that is exceedingly effective. The Pompadour handles to the parasols are novel. These are flat and round in ivory, with a gold shield in the center, or sometimes the handles are all in embossed gold or silver.

The New Long Scarfs.

The long scarves introduced promise to be much worn in place of light wraps during the midsummer season, hence our readers will doubtless be pleased with the illustrations here presented.



LONG SCARFS.

The central figure represents a white or black Chantilly lace scarf, designed to be carried around the neck and tied at the throat with a knot of moire ribbon. On one side of this is shown an old scarf reversed. This may be of black cashmere or Bengaline, and is bordered with a thick ruching of pinked out silk. It is slipped over the shoulders, where, in olden times, it was kept in place. The remaining figure shows what is known as the "empire shoulder scarf" of colored gauze, crepe or similar material bordered with embroidered lisse or French lace, and embroidered around the cape and square ends with a wreath of self toned or contrasting silk.

Latest French Fashions.

As a rule, sooner or later, fashionable women the world over are influenced by what the French people wear; so we present to our readers some of the latest fashions from gay Paris. First, then, nothing can be straighter than the skirts now worn by fashionable women in Paris. Not a steel is to be seen, and the pads, if they exist, are invisible. China silk is much in fashion there. Silks are decidedly coming in again for all but rough, useful costumes; about this there is no doubt. There are many varieties in new cloths, quite the most novel being cashmere with a wool weft and a silk woof. Irish poplin is a fashionable material, possibly because it is an intermediary between silk and wool. Alpaca is also much worn.

The revolution in sleeves is accepted. Some of the newest are very wide at the top and either lace or button inside the arm. French women allow them to drop over the hand, carrying out the medieval in its entirety.

Fichu Jackets and Jerseys.

Fichu jackets are novel and most useful, for they can be worn over any low bodices. They are rather high at the back, but very open in front, the vandyked edges just meeting across the bust and then receding. The sleeves are short, but very full, and exceedingly pretty, with double edgings falling round the arm, but caught up high at the top. These jackets are to be had in tinted and black lace. Some of the new jerseys, gauged at the throat and top of the arm, have a scarf fixed and gauged on the top of one shoulder, carried across the bust and looped in a large, loose bow at the side.

Some of the New Petticoats.

White skirts are made with flounces up the back, for now that steels are discarded the dresses must be kept out in some way or other. Flannel petticoats are embroidered on the flannel in fine work to a depth of eight inches. A new trimming for outside petticoats is a fine net with Valenciennes edge. There is also a bewildering variety of silk petticoats with embroidered flounces and flounces trimmed with lace.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

Successful Use of Chloroform as an Internal Remedy for Dyspepsia.

A notable instance of the use of chloroform as an internal remedy is in the treatment of dyspepsia, in which it is said to overcome fermentation and flatulence. The following method of administration is recommended by Dr. Wils: From ten to twenty drops of chloroform to be taken in a few spoonfuls of sweetened water, in flatulent dyspepsia. After a few minutes eructation occurs, followed by improvement.

For painful dyspepsia with dilated stomach, Drs. Regnault and Lasegue have prescribed as follows: Chloroform water, 150 parts; orange flower water, 50 parts; water, 100 parts. One dessertspoonful to be taken, at intervals of fifteen minutes, until pain ceases.

Dr. Stepp, of Germany, has made numerous successful trials of chloroform used internally. In gastric ulcer he gave it (fifteen grains in a five ounce bismuth mixture) with great effect, which he believes to be due to its disinfecting, astringent and stimulating properties. In various affections of the throat and mouth—as follicular [illegible], catarrh of the pharynx, gingivitis and diphtheria—washes and gargles containing chloroform proved very beneficial. In one case of severe psoriasis of the mucous membrane of the mouth, which had been unsuccessfully treated by several medical men, chloroform water effected a complete cure. Two cases of pneumonia, treated with chloroform, were remarkably satisfactory. Very encouraging results were obtained also in six cases of typhoid treated with this remedy.

Periodic Headache.

The causes of many forms of headache are as yet little understood. It is claimed, however, by Dr. A. Haig, that one variety of periodic headache is directly due to the retention of uric acid in the system. He describes the usual sequence of events as follows:

There is a time (say seven to ten days) of good general health, active nutrition and bodily activity, with plus formation of uric acid and urea, and concomitant rise in acidity. As acidity rises, uric acid comes to be retained, and at the end of four or five days several grains may be regarded as stored up in the liver and spleen. Then come dyspepsia, gastro-intestinal catarrh and hepatic congestion. These quickly result in general diminution of absorption and nutritive changes, with lessened formation of uric acid and urea and a fall in acidity; and lastly, as the result of this falling acidity, there comes a rush of the stored uric acid into the blood, and the headache begins.

Such a sequence explains the periodicity of this kind of headache and the way in which it comes to occur every week or ten days for many years, varying only in degree with the corresponding variations in nutrition. It is also evident that any causes which affect digestion will influence the attack in one of the above ways; while all causes of debility, by weakening the nerve center on which the uric acid acts, will render it more sensitive (the reverse of the action of bromides) and the attacks more frequent.

The good effects of salicylic acid and the salicylates generally in this variety of headache are due to the circumstance that they facilitate the excretion of uric acid, and thus prevent the retention of excessive amounts within the body.

Simple Test for Drinking Water.

The following simple test of the purity of water for drinking purposes is commended by Professor Angell, of the Michigan university:

"Dissolve about half a teaspoonful of the purest white sugar in a pint bottle completely full of the water to be tested, and tightly stoppered; expose it to daylight and a temperature up to 70 degs. F. After a day or two examine, holding the bottle against something black, for whitish floating specks, which will betray the presence of organic matter in considerable proportion."

The Hours of Death.

There has long been a popular belief that the greatest number of deaths occur between 4 and 6 o'clock in the morning. Dr. Charles Fere has taken the trouble to tabulate the death hours of all patients dying in two Parisian hospitals during the last ten years. He found that there were rather fewer deaths between 7 and 11 o'clock in the evening than at any other time, but there was no special preponderance at any hour.

Protection Against Mosquitoes.

To clear a room of mosquitoes, take a small piece of gum camphor in a tin vessel and evaporate it over a flame, taking care it does not ignite. A sponge dipped in camphorated spirits and made fast to the top of the bedstead will be found serviceable in the sleeping room. Decoction of pennyroyal, applied to the exposed parts, will effectually keep off these troublesome insects.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

Some Admirable Traits of Foreign Society Not Yet Quite Attained in America.

There is a simplicity and absence of self consciousness in the manners of foreigners, according to Mrs. Sherwood, which has not yet reached America. She affirms that you will rarely see a bashful Frenchman. He asks you to his wedding, his simple dinner or his little feast, offering you the best he has, and as he is not thinking of himself, but of you, as he is not ashamed of his small means, he makes you perfectly happy. Such a thing as a capricious hostess is known in America, but it is not known on the Continent.

A capricious woman who forgets that she has asked you to dinner, who is late at her own dinner, who invites more people than she has room for, but who is so graceful and fascinating and lovely that everybody forgives her, is one of the agonies of society, for she makes every one uncomfortable and yet nobody can do without her.

Phyllis is my only joy,
Changeful as the winds of morning,
Sometimes willful, sometimes coy,
All my vows and raptures scorning.
She'll my ancient wishes tease,
Yet she never fails to please—except when seven or eight other people are put out by her little wiles.

A Society Man's Motto.

"The man who hesitates is conversationally lost!" Never discard a remark as being too obvious, the chances being that after anxious thought you have to return to it in default of a better, and your audience thinks, if she is too kind to say, "Has he been all this time in thinking of that?" This is the secret of the success which sometimes attends very dull people. They have no sense of shame. There is no platitude too palpable for their exposition, and in consequence they are in full swing with that pretty Miss Robinson, while you are silent and morose waiting for impromptus which never come.

Slovenly Speech.

Abjure slang strictly and upon principle, if for no other reason because it narrows your vocabulary. It is the favorite refuge of the slovenly and the indolent. If your thought does not deserve a neat dress, keep it in some back closet of your own brain.

YOUNG FOLKS' COLUMN.

FOR THE ESPECIAL ENTERTAINMENT OF OUR GIRL AND BOY READERS.

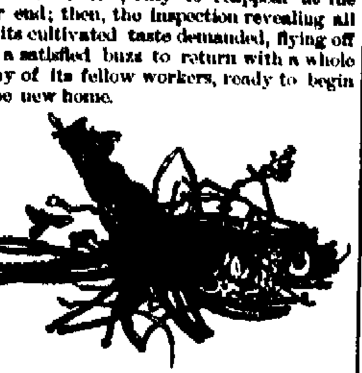
A True Story of the Industry of a Colony of Æsthetic Wasps and Their Queer Home—The Goose and the Kite—Young Macaulay's System of Reading.

What keen eyes they have! these busy little workers, flying hither and thither, over hill and valley, in the early spring days. House hunting, that is what they are doing. In at your window, under the eaves of the barn, getting in the most inconceivable and, sometimes, unwelcome places. Nothing is beneath their notice; no, not even an old, discarded curtain tassel, as a friend tells me who has seen the tassel.

Perhaps it was once one of the much prized treasures of some small girl, rambling through the loose hay, with her arms so full of toys that the treasure dropped and was lost forever to its owner.

There it lay, unseen, until one day a busy wasp came buzzing around the barn yard, and, being a wasp of high æsthetic taste, this odd looking, pretty colored object in the long grass attracted its attention and gave it a most brilliant idea.

First taking a peep in at the top, it disappeared from view, only to reappear at the other end; then, the inspection revealing all that its cultivated taste demanded, flying off with a satisfied buzz to return with a whole colony of its fellow workers, ready to begin on the new home.



THE ÆSTHETIC WASPS.

So the wasp and its family worked day after day, flying back and forth to their tasseled home, first making the cells for their eggs and food, then, all being snug and tight, hurrying off again to have the store rooms well filled with provisions for the few who would live until another spring. All through the summer months sounded their energetic, busy hum, telling a tale of lots of work to be done and six short months to do it in! Buzz, buzz, buzz! Long since the little occupants deserted their æsthetic home, while the tassel, with the house still complete, reposes in the South Kensington Museum of Natural History, a lasting relic of the industry of those æsthetic wasps.

That this pretty story is a true one we have the assurance of Mr. M. D. Dickman, who told it first to the youthful readers of St. Nicholas.

Boyhood of Admiral Farragut.

Admiral Farragut, one of our naval heroes, once related the following incident of his childhood:

When I was 10 years old I was with my father on board of a man-of-war. I had some qualities that, I thought, made a man of me. I could swear like an old salt, could drink as stiff a glass of grog as if I had doubled Cape Horn and could smoke like a locomotive. I was great at cards and fond of gaming in every shape. At the close of dinner one day my father turned everybody out of the cabin, locked the door and said to me:

"David, what do you mean to be?"

"I mean to follow the sea."

"Follow the sea! Yes, to be a poor, miserable, drunken sailor before the mast; be kicked and cuffed about the world, and die in some fever hospital in a foreign land. No, David; no boy ever trod the quarter deck with such principles as you have and such habits as you exhibit. You'll have to change your whole course of life if you ever become a man."

My father left me and went on deck. I was stunned by the rebuke and overwhelmed with mortification.

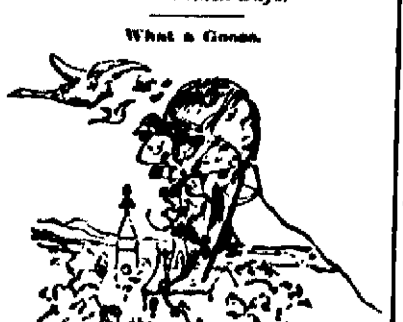
"A poor, miserable, drunken sailor before the mast. Be kicked and cuffed about the world and die in some fever hospital. That is to be my fate," thought I. "I'll change my life, and change it at once. I'll never utter another oath; I will never drink another drop of intoxicating liquor; I will never gamble." I have kept these three vows ever since. That act was the turning point in my destiny.

The Paris Exposition.

An idea of the vastness of the Paris exposition may be gained from the area it covers. Although the buildings are closely grouped, the total ground surface is about seventy acres. The buildings are noted for strength, lightness and beauty. Nearly $9,000,000 have already been expended.

With the exception of Germany, Turkey and Montenegro, every civilized or semi civilized nation in the world is represented. Great Britain and Russia make the best foreign exhibits, and the United States makes a magnificent showing. South America is well represented, and there is a grand display from China, Japan, Siam, Morocco and other eastern countries.—Golden Days.

What a Goose.



In the distant azure sky
A flock of geese go sailing by,
When in their midst appears a bird,
The like of which they've never heard.
"An enemy!" the leader cries,
And at the fancied monster flies.
All the geese that follow after
Now are bubbling o'er with laughter.
Right through the foe the gander flies,
Exhibiting a marked surprise—
For all that caused this sad affright
Was just our Teddy's new spring kite!
—Wide Awake.

"If You Please."

We've just heard of an island far away,
Across the rosy sunset seas,
Where we'll send to stay, for a year and a day,
The folks who forget to say "Please."

We'll pack them off, the ill and the hale,
In a well manned ship together,
And we'll hoist the sail on the date without fail,
Quite regardless of the weather.

And when they come back they'll be so polite,
They'll say "how-d'ye-do" on their knees.
Won't it be a delight to behold such a sight,
And to hear them in chorus cry "Please?"

Lost yesterday, somewhere between sunrise and sunset, two golden hours, each set with sixty diamond minutes. No reward is offered, for they are gone forever.

who has a diseased Liver is to at once take proper means to cure it. The function the Liver is designed to perform, and on the regular execution of which depends not only the general health of the body, but the powers of the Stomach, Bowels, Brain, and the whole nervous system, shows its vast and vital importance to human health.
NO HUMAN BEING
should run the risk for a single day of neglecting this important organ, but should promptly get a box of Dr. C. McLane's Celebrated Liver Pills, made by FLEMING BROS., Pittsburgh, Pa., and use according to directions they will cure you promptly and permanently. Around each box is a wrapper giving full description of the symptoms of a diseased Liver. They can be had of druggists.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we receive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease-preventer that has yet been discovered, is simmered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them?

They do not know, of course, unless they have the courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why don't you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but a dollar for a very large bottle. Try it once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggist may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine, for it really is a mine—of health.

Free from alcohol and opium; composed of expensive herbs and roots, with a fine, delicate flavoring.

The Grain Plant-Louse in Ohio.

One of the most notable insect outbreaks that has occurred in Ohio for many years is now taking place in the grain fields of the State. The insect is one which has long been known as the Grain Plant-Louse (Siphonophora granaria), having originally occurred in Europe, from whence it was probably introduced into this country early in its history. It has only occasionally ravaged grain fields here, and so far as our present information goes, has seldom been injurious in Ohio.

The insect is now present, however, in destructive numbers over a large portion of the State, having already seriously injured the wheat, and is now threatening an equally serious injury to oats and other grains. Last year it was present in many of the northern counties, not becoming sufficiently abundant to attract notice until the oats were nearly ripe.

This insect is closely related to the "green fly" of house plants, rose bushes, etc. It is a small, greenish, or in some cases brownish insect, with or without wings, infesting the leaves and heads of plants of the grass family. It obtains its food by inserting a pointed beak into the leaf or stem and sucking out the sap. As the wheat gets ripe it migrates to the more succulent oats, and when these ripen, will go to various grasses. It brings forth living young, and its rate of multiplication is very great, it being estimated that a single louse in spring may become the ancestor of many millions before autumn.

Fortunately this insect has a great many enemies which prey upon it, and are now doing immense good in decimating its ranks. These are of various kinds, and in some places are being mistaken for foes instead of friends of the farmer. The one which is causing the most apprehension is a peculiar dark color, six-footed insect, generally with spots of a brighter color on its back, looking as one person expressed it, "half worm and half bug," which is very abundant in the infested wheat-fields, crawling about over the heads. These are the young or larvæ of various species of lady-bugs, or lady-beetles, and instead of attacking the wheat, as many farmers believe, is really feeding upon the lice themselves and destroying them by the thousands. Another insect that is doing immense good is a very small four-winged fly that deposits an egg within the louse. This egg hatches into a grub that develops at the expense of the louse, destroying it and emerging again as a four-winged fly. The dead lice "struck" by these parasites become dull brown in color, and adhere to the leaf or stem upon which they were feeding.

Besides these, various other enemies are attacking the lice, and the indications now are that the outbreak will be so checked by the end of the season that there will be little danger of a repetition of the attack next year.

The presence of English sparrows in the wheat fields led some to believe that they were feeding upon the lice, but an examination of stomach contents of a number shot while on wheat, showed that the grain itself was what they were after, no more lice being eaten than was necessary to get the grain.

As yet no practical artificial remedy for the grain plant louse is known. At the station we have found that kerosene emulsion will destroy them, but the difficulty of reaching them with this substance when they occur on the under surface of the leaf or imbedded in the chaff of the head, makes the remedy hardly practical.

The injury to the wheat will be manifested by the shriveling of the grain due to the extraction of the sap necessary for its perfect development.

A Monster Mogul.
[Huntington Herald.]

Monday night there passed over the C. and A. railroad, one of the heaviest mogul locomotives which ever came west from the Baldwin Locomotive Works. Its weight entire was ninety-five tons, and the top of the boiler-head was as high as a box car. It was built for the Northern Pacific road. The weight of this monster machine was so great as to cause apprehension that it might weaken the culverts and bridges, all of which were thoroughly inspected after it passed over before any other trains were permitted upon them.
